SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

CONSTIPATION

My attention after suffering with Constipation for two or three years was called to Simmons Liver Regulator and having tried almost everything else concluded to try it I first took a wineglassful and afterwards reduced the dose to a teaspoonful (as per direction) after each meal I found that it had done me so much good that I continued it until I took two bottles Since then I have not experienced any difficulty I keep it in my house and would not be without it but have no use for it having cured me —GEO W SIMS Assistant Clerk Superior Court, Bibb Co Ga.

Having led a sedentary life for a number of years, my bowels became very irregular and my habit constipated By the advice of friends I was induced to resort to Simmons Liver Regulator and I now enjoy better health than I have known for years —GEO W FOREST Water Dep't Philadelphia.

The Senate Discusses and Rejects Woman Suffrage.

DOLPH EARNESTLY ADVOCATES IT

SENATE

WASHINGTON Jan 25—Farwell senator-elect from Illinois had the oath of office administered to him and took the seat recently occupied by Cullom while the latter took that of the late Gen Logan

Dawes from the conference committee on the bill to provide for the allotment of lands in severalty to Indians in various reservations and to extend the protection of the laws of the United States and of the territories over the Indians made a report

Dolph inquired whether the limit of twenty five years fixed as the time before which lands owned by Indians could be alienated had been reduced

Dawes replied that it had not been On the contrary the president was authorized to extend the limit in particular cases As soon as an individual Indian took up his allotment he was to have a patent which patent would be held by the government for twenty five years at the end of which time he was to get a patent in fee After further explanation the report was agreed to

Allison presented a conference report on the army appropriation bill He stated that most of the amendments were formal and that the total amount appropriated is $23 4 18 being $28 588 less than the appropriation of last year

Hawley thought this a good opportunity to inquire of Allison what had become of the fortifications bill of last session

Allison suggested that Dawes chairman of the conference committee on that bill could explain that matter best

Dawes said the conference committee on the fortifications bill had held two or three sittings last session and had been unable to agree Immediately on the assembling of this session the conference committee had been called together and had held several meetings without being able as yet to agree He was not certain that it would be proper for him to state what the differences were There were some prospects however that in some shape there would be an early agreement. The differences seemed to be radical They seemed to be doing substantially nothing and appropriating five or six millions to begin work He thought that if the conference committee could be induced to establish a new bureau for the purpose of executing the law a good deal of difficulty could be got over

The conference report on the army appropriations bill was then agreed to

Blair moved to lay aside unfinished business and to take up the proposed woman suffrage constitutional amendment carried 25 to 14

Before proceeding with consideration of the suffrage resolution the chair announced his signature to the interstate commerce bill

A WOMAN SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Following is the text of the proposed amendment

The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by a state on account of sex and congress shall have power by appropriate legislation to enforce the provisions of this article

Brown addressed the senate in opposition He said that woman now exercised an imperceptible influence in public affairs much greater than she could if female suffrage were enacted It might be a gratification to a small minority of women but it would be a cruelty to a large majority of them The most ignorant and less refined portion of the female population (to say nothing of the baser class) would flock to the polls while the refined intelligent and virtuous women would stay at home Thus there would be a vast preponderance of ignorance and vice at the polls

DOLPH'S ARGUMENT IN FAVOR.

Dolph favored the resolution He said the stage of ridicule of the movement was passed This resolution might not pass, but the time was not far distant in every state and territory when woman would be admitted to an equal voice in the government whether the federal constitution be amended or not. No measure involving such radical changes in society had made such progress as the woman suffrage movement since the first convention in favor of it was held in 1848 at Seneca Falls New York

Eustis inquired of Dolph if he did not think if woman had the right of suffrage she also ought to be required to serve on juries

Dolph said that it did not necessarily follow There was no connection between jury service and the right of suffrage But in Washington territory where women had the right of suffrage they also served on juries and to the great satisfaction of judges and lawyers

Eustis understood that under all state laws those duties were considered correlative He asked whether it was a decent spectacle to take a mother from her nursing infant and keep her up all night sitting on a jury

Dolph replied that there was nothing in that suggestion because no woman under such circumstances would be required to serve on a jury In conclusion he said God speed the day when not only in all the states and territories but everywhere women shall stand before the law freed from the shackles riveted on her by tyranny and by ignorance not only in relation to suffrage but in relation to every other right

THE RESOLUTION REJECTED

Vest spoke in opposition to the woman suffrage resolution

The vote was then taken on the resolution and it was rejected yeas 16 nays 34 as follows Yeas—Blair Bowen Chace Conger Cullom Dolph Farwell Hoar Manderson Mitchell of Pennsylvania Mitchell of Oregon Palmer Platt Sherman Teller Wilson of Iowa—16 Nays Beck, Berry, Blackburn Brown Call Cockrell Coke Colquitt Eustis Evarts George Gray Hampton Harris Hawley Ingalls Jones of Nevada McMillan McPherson Mahone Morgan Morrill Payne Pugh Saulsbury Sawyer Sewell Spooner Vance, Vest Walthall Whitthorn Williams Wilson of Maryland 34

The presiding officer laid before the senate a message from the president transmitting a communication from the secretary of state and the correspondence on the subject of the proposed Nicaraguan ship canal ordered printed

On motion of Mahone bills for public buildings were taken from the calendar and passed as follows To complete the building at Santa Fe N M not to exceed $52 148, appropriating $150 000 for Los Angeles Cal the building at Charleston S C not to exceed $100 000 for site and $200 000 for building for Jefferson Texas not to exceed $50 000 for site and building

Beck gave notice that he would to-morrow call up the railroad attorney bill The senate then adjourned

HOUSE

WASHINGTON Jan 25—Hiscock of New York appeared in the house this morning and was warmly congratulated by his colleagues upon his success in the senatorial contest in New York

The enrolled copy of the interstate commerce bill was signed by the speaker and after it has been signed by the presiding officer of the senate will be sent to the president

Turner of Georgia called up the Rhode Island contested election case of Payne vs Pierce The majority resolution declared the seat vacant, while the minority resolution confirms the right of Pierce to the seat. The majority resolution was agreed to, yeas 130, nays 43

Hatch of Missouri reported the agricultural appropriation bill and it was referred to the committee of the whole The house then adjourned

WASHINGTON Jan 25—Hearing in the Emmons lunacy case was resumed to-day Mr A Worth Spates a lawyer of Baltimore testified to meeting and knowing Mrs Emmons in Cheyenne Wyoming in 1879 He said he first met her at a literary gathering where she read an original paper notable for its brilliancy He met her frequently after that and had seen her since then and conversed with her He had met and seen her also at this trial He had not observed any material change in her She was he said, always regarded as a little eccentric She would drive a faster horse than other people, and dress more stylish On cross-examination Spates said that he never knew her to do anything at Cheyenne that any lady should be ashamed of. THE RETALIATION BILL

How the News of Its Passage was Received in Canada.

CHICAGO Jan 25—A Times Toronto special says News of the passing of the retaliation bill against Canada has been received here with considerable surprise as the feeling had been encouraged by some of the papers that the bill was only introduced as a threat, and that it would not be touched until the next session of congress Canadian shippers are very much grieved over the prospective injury that the enforcement of the bill may do to Canadian commerce The effect of the passing of the bill has been to breed fresh discontent against the present conservative government of Canada for its action on the fisheries question and its failure to take proper steps to negotiate a new treaty with the United States. It is the general opinion here that whichever party is returned to power at the election four weeks hence it should be pledged to use its utmost endeavors to introduce some measure that will produce the friendliest relations between Canada and the United States

REJOICING AT GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER Mass Jan 25—There was great jubilation here last night over the passage of the retaliatory fisheries bill by the senate A large crowd assembled in the vicinity of the custom house and postoffice blocking the street and awakening echoes with frequent cheers and other manifestations of enthusiasm The opinion is that the bill is what fishermen and vessel owners here desire They do not want to be on unfriendly terms with the Canadians but do want an accordance of commercial rights and privileges

IT FALLS FLAT AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Jan 25—The passage by the United States senate yesterday of the Edmunds fisheries bill attracted very little attention here None of the newspapers comment on the matter editorially

VIEWS OF THE ENGLISH PRESS

LONDON Jan 25—The Post this morning in an article on the passage in the United States Monday of the fisheries retaliation bill says We are sure that Mr Ingalls's outspoken bitterness against England does not represent the feeling either of the American senate or of the people On the other hand it would be foolish to shut our eyes to the importance of the question involved

The Daily News says To-day's telegrams from New York Montreal and Ottawa are of a very reassuring character Nobody here regarded the violent speeches of Senators Ingalls Hale and Frye seriously Even dignified American senators are not above playing to the gallery It must be hoped that no step will be taken to expedite a quarrel and that the good sense of Canada will insist upon a policy of peace

LONDON Jan 25—The Standard says President Cleveland will probably have the good sense to veto the measure, or agree to it merely in form as a prelude to amicable negotiations. We protest against the idea of either England or Canada being coerced into yielding a jot or tittle of their rights by such empty threats We have none of the ulterior motives assigned by Messrs Ingalls Frye and Hoar but Americans by demanding such terms as those indicated ask more than justice The dispute however ought not to be beyond the power of diplomacy

A SWINDLER IN TROUBLE.

LONDON Jan 25—The case of Charles Deakin the American of Susquehanna Pa. against Geo. Franklin Anderson who describes himself as an American solicitor of Detroit for swindling the former out of sums of money amounting to $20 000 for alleged expenses while prosecuting a pretended attempt to recover for the plaintiff large English estates which he had been led to believe belonged to him by inheritance was up for examination to-day Deakin testified to the facts of the swindle already published and Anderson was remanded for a week without bail The government will prosecute the case

THE SEMI-PANIC SUBSIDED

LONDON Jan 25—The semi panic on the stock exchange caused by the London Daily News article of yesterday has subsided The markets are now rampant Consols for both money and account opened to-day at an advance of one-eighth on the closing prices of yesterday

GLADSTONE'S POPULARITY

LONDON Jan 25—Gladstone arrived in London to-day At the stations along the road from Hawarden he was recognized by the people and enthusiastically cheered

FRANCE.

FRANCE IS CALM

PARIS Jan 25—Newspapers of all parties join in accusing the English press of inventing and circulating bellicose canards The French journals assert that the English newspaper men are engaged in this alleged work from pecuniary motives being interested in influencing the stock market France however it is declared will not fall into the trap She is calm and can defy the maneuvres of her enemies

MORE WAR TALK

NEW YORK Jan 25—Vanderpool war correspondent of the Paris Figaro who served that paper in the Russo-Turkish and other campaigns, and who is at present in this city received a cablegram from the Figaro to-day saying that war is imminent and inevitable, and ordering him to sail for Paris not later that February 1st.

WAR INTENTIONS OFFICIALLY DENIED

PARIS Jan. 25—The cabinet met to-day and reiterated that the war rumors in circulation are as incorrect from a military as from a diplomatic point of view Gen Boulanger minister of war publishes a denial of the report that he is buying horses abroad for the use of the army

INTERESTING O. R. & N TALK

The Road has not been Earning Dividends for Years—Much Damage done by Floods in the East.

TRENTON Jan 25—The democratic hopes of last night were lowered again to-day by Speaker Baird's refusal to accept overtures and go into their caucus The caucus met at 9 o clock and immediately adjourned until 11 At the latter hour the doors were again closed, but Baird had left the capitol and gone to the hotel He says he will not meet in caucus with the democrats on the senatorial question but will vote for a democrat for senator This gives the democrats no satisfaction as his vote will only help the republicans, if not cast for the democratic caucus nominee The democrats are yet undecided whether or not to go into joint meeting and ballot for senator to-morrow, independent of the republicans Without Baird they lack a majority unless either of the labor men should join them and these latter give no assurance as to their standing in the senatorial fight. The senate will not organize this week that having been decided upon in an all night caucus

TRENTON N J Jan 25—A crisis was reached in the senatorial situation this afternoon when the democratic majority in the assembly in pursuance of their caucus programme forced a ballot The call of the house was made immediately upon reassembling at 3 o clock and within a few minutes all members were in their places except Throckmartin (dem) His confreres were not satisfied with the reason given for his absence Still the democrats had thirty members present to twenty nine Republicans and they resolved to proceed The republicans failed to secure an adjournment A motion to proceed to ballot for United States senator was objected to by the republicans as illegal the requirement being that the vote should be taken on the second Tuesday after the organization of the legislature and the senatorial half of it was not yet organized The democrats replied that the failure to organize was the result of revolutionary methods by the republicans and that it was not necessary to discuss the matter further The house then proceeded to vote on the question of taking the ballot and it prevailed by a vote of thirty democrats The republicans except Hawkins refused to vote Speaker Baird and two labor men stood with the republicans Ex Gov Leon Abbott was then nominated for United States senator and on the call of the roll he received 30 votes for this office This included all the democratic assemblymen except Throckmartin absent and Baird not voting. None of the republicans or labor men voted The record was ordered to be entered on the assembly journal and an adjournment then took place till 11 30 A M to-morrow when the democratic senators will join with the assembly in formally voting for Abbott with nine senators the democrats would have thirty nine votes or two short of the number necessary to elect. They are hopeful however of having both Throckmartin and Baird with them in the final vote. The republicans express no anxiety The senate has adjourned to Friday They say however that the action of the democrats is illegal and will not stand They will all persist in refusing to vote The democratic state senators elect were sworn into office by Senator Livingstone in the attorney general's office this afternoon

THE O. R. & N

A Statement that the Company has not been Earning Dividends for Years.

NEW YORK, Jan 25—A quarrel started over the Oregon Railway & Navigation company grows in stead of diminishing In Monday's papers Brayton Ives explained that he was not authority for the Post's statement that the company had not earned dividends for years but said it was based on statements signed by a director of the Northern Pacific in which he claimed he found proof in President Smith's own reports that the Oregon Railway & Navigation company had not earned dividends for some years He said this director is a personal friend of Smith owns 20 000 shares and his statement did much toward influencing the directors of the Northern Pacific not to ... the Union Pacific

To-day the statement referred to which is signed by J A Brockman is printed as an advertisement together with a review of it by President Smith Brockman who examined the Oregon Railway & Navigation reports of 1881 to 1886 both inclusive says that an examination of the reports shows that the statements made in them are misleading and incorrect. President Smith analyzes Brockman's statement, and says that in nearly every instance the facts are either misstated, garbled or assumed to be wrong on evidences of things unseen without seemingly considering the matter worth even a superficial examination, which would have afforded positive information The accounts and books of this company were offered for examination before this report was made and assurance was given that all questions relating to the property its earnings conditions of construction, or financial condition, would be answered and any explanation or details given that would be required No such questions were asked although many of the inaccuracies in the report could have been corrected by such questions

A PHILADELPHIA OPINION

PHILADELPHIA Jan 25—The Press says Indirectly the failure of the Union Pacific to get what it demanded from the government is very damaging to the Oregon Railway & Navigation and the Oregon & Transcontinental companies. The Navigation company lately concluded or pretended to conclude a lease with the Union Pacific by which the stock of the Oregon company was guaranteed 6 per cent premium It is doubtful if either company had legal power to enter into the lease. The Union Pacific certainly did not. The intention was to draw the Northern Pacific into the contract but that company definitely refused last month to have anything to do with it Under present circumstances the guarantee of Navigation stock is worthless

I am settled at San Francisco the first place I landed at in America. My stay east thus far has been at Washington I have been looking over the archives of the war department, preparing an article on the battle of Gettysburg I have discovered facts that will be a revelation about that battle I will throw a bombshell into the army of historians and explode all stories hitherto given about that battle Thus far those who have written on the subject have failed to give the true history of the campaign My article will bring forth facts that will startle a good many who are pretty much settled in their convictions. It will not be sensational but it will be like throwing dynamite under all the theories that have hitherto been advanced about that memorable battle

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1887.

THE FISHERY WAR.

The cod and the mackerel eclipse once more the friendship of nations. About a week ago our dispatches furnished the full text of the new fishery bill, upon which there was so fiery a debate in the senate on Monday. The bill is avowedly in the nature of a retaliatory act. Ingalls, Frye and other senators were extremely earnest, and even passionate, in their denunciation of Great Britain for the unaccommodating, illiberal and selfish policy which she pursues in her relations with other countries, and since she proposes to shut out, and actually does shut out our fishing vessels from Canadian waters and ports, and since she denies to our vessels and to their crews rights and privileges in Canadian ports due them by comity of nations, the president of the United States is empowered and directed, upon proof to him of such facts, "to deny to all vessels, their masters and crews of the British dominions in North America any entrance to the waters, ports or places of or within the United States;" and the president may also, "if he thinks proper, deny entry into any port or place within the United States of fresh fish, or salt fish, or any other product of said dominions, or other goods coming from said dominions into the United States."

This is a sweeping act, and may lead to total suspension of trade between the United States and the dominion of Canada. It virtually authorizes the president to suspend such trade, on the part of the United States, at his discretion, upon satisfactory proof to him that our vessels are still denied the privilege claimed by them in Canadian ports and waters, heretofore denied. It is, in short, a sweeping act of retaliation, and this is its avowed character.

It is also stated that the administration is extremely anxious that this bill should be enacted. Hence the supposition is that the president will attend zealously to its enforcement, in case of need. It can hardly be doubted that the bill will pass the house with a rush. The situation will then be this: Great Britian will have to back down from her illiberal policy in the treatment of our fishermen, or all relations between the United States and Great Britian's North Americain dominions will be suspended. For of course, if we refuse to receive the products and goods of Canada, she will retaliate further by refusing to receive ours. But the gain from this condition of non-intercourse will be on our side, since the Canadians find more market with us than we find with them. And if Canada, following out the retaliatory principle, should go so far as to refuse to take our thieves and defaulters, we could stand that too.

It is now to be seen whether the complaints of the Canadians, on account of non-intercourse with the United States, will not make Great Britian willing to negotiate for more liberal adjustment of the fishery dispute. Perhaps, indeed, this may be the introduction to a serious controversy with Great Britian. Wars often take their origin from causes of less note and and magnitude. Should one act of retaliation lead to another, the end might be total suspension of intercourse between the two nations, with reprisals and war. From the tone of speeches in the senate on Monday the English government would have a right to infer that this country was already for a fight and just spoiling to get it. To the prudent American it would seem better, however, to put our coasts and ports in some condition of defense, and build some good ships of war, before talking quite so stoutly.

VILE AND MALICIOUS CRITICS.

A paper printed at the Cœur d'Alene mines remarks that Mr. Herbert Lang's account of the mines of that region, published in THE OREGONIAN, has been "immoderately praised." On looking over the article this critic is "surprised to see a lot of 'chestnuts' and errors strung together." "It is quite possible," it continues, "that Mr. Lang is an able writer on mining matters, but when he tries to describe he makes unpardonable mistakes." To sustain this criticism a solitary error is paraded—a ten-stamp mill being spoken of in one place as a five-stamp mill—but even this insignificant error is shown by the context to be a typographical one. It may be, says the Cœur d'Alene paper, that "Mr. Lang was limited in time and expenditure by that arch enemy of Cœur d'Alene, THE OREGONIAN," and more to the same purpose.

The paper that prints this stuff is called the Sun. It holds about the same rank as a newspaper in the Cœur d'Alene region that the snide and bogus paper called the News holds at Portland. A very good paper called the Record is published at the Cœur d'Alene mines, but the Sun is so worthless that THE OREGONIAN never thought it worth while to send it an exchange. The bogus journal here, recognizing the bogus paper at Cœur d'Alene as "an affinity," as a thing like itself, and, therefore, dear to itself, takes up this complaint about Mr. Lang's Cœur d'Alene article, and says that the criticism is not "necessarily a reflection upon Mr. Lang, but shows the effect of THE OREGONIAN'S parsimonious policy in not allowing its correspondents all the facilities necessary properly to describe any given locality."

This, coming from such a paper as the bogus journal of Portland, is rich indeed. For news and for writers THE OREGONIAN spends more in one month than the bogus paper spends in twenty. It spends for news more than all other papers in Oregon and Washington together, and its readers know that in what it undertakes it never stints its expense. Mr. Lang visited the Cœur d'Alene mines in person; he gave them the only thorough examination they have had, and the result has been pronounced by all competent judges and critics to be far superior to any other description of the mines ever given. It was more methodical and scientific in treatment and fuller in detail than any other account hitherto attempted, and testimonials from all parties at Cœur d'Alene, save the contemptible bogus journal of that locality, have given Mr. Lang praise for the article, and have commended THE OREGONIAN for having performed, in publishing it, the best piece of work ever done for that region. For writing the article, and indeed the whole review of the mines of the Northwest, of which the article was a part, THE OREGONIAN paid Mr. Lang his own price, paid him just what he asked; paid him in money, not in promises or "truck," after the manner of bogus journalism; and the sum, by the way, was much the largest ever paid in the Northwest for any single piece of work done for a newspaper.

This statement as to Mr. Lang's work is due from THE OREGONIAN as a vindication of him against an attack directed by ignorance, malice and pusillanimity. The object, of course, is a fling at THE OREGONIAN, and to get in this fling Mr. Lang is unjustly assailed. On its own account THE OREGONIAN never would have noticed it, but it can not allow another to be the vicarious object of spite directed against itself.

Siglin's accusation against Wager declares the latter "guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator and gentleman." The people of Oregon are the rightful judges of the conduct of both men; and since he has forced a comparison of conduct "as senators and gentlemen," Mr. Siglin will have no cause to complain when the decision goes against him, as it surely will. Mr. Wager will be sustained by the people, and Mr. Siglin will not.

Ex-Gov. Wm. B. Bate, who has been elected U. S. senator from Tennessee, is a native of Alabama, and was a Confederate general of a division under Bragg, Joe Johnson and Wood. He fought at Stone River, Chickamauga and before Atlanta, and his division suffered severely at the Battle of Nashville, in December, 1864.

An Inventor's Advice.
George Stevenson, when advising young men how to get on, would finish by saying, "Do as I have done—persevere." For fifteen years he plodded and worked before giving the finishing touches to his locomotive. In as many days those persevering in the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," have experienced great relief and found themselves on the high road to health. Liver complaints, impure blood, chronic lung diseases, and many others, yield to its healing influences never to return. All druggists.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Prominent Citizens of Portland Urging the Bridge Bill.

EX-SEC. EARHART EXONERATED.

Eminent Legal Gentlemen Express Opinions of the Constitutionality of the Supreme Judges' Salary Bill.

SALEM, Jan. 25.—The house judiciary committee to which the scandal in connection with the employment of female clerks was referred, met this evening and after some preliminary talk adjourned till to-morrow. No witnesses were examined. It is understood that a majority favors probing the matter to the bottom, and I am told that this will be done. It is to be expected that every possible effort to defeat the investigation will be made. The house is determined to have the matter fully examined and I am convinced that the committee will not be allowed to trifle with it. There is no excuse for further delay or for making the inquiry so elaborate as to make it consume any great amount of time. The chairman against whom the charges are made and the witnesses who will swear that they are true, are all at hand in the state house at a moment's call. The question is a simple one of fact and it ought not to take more than two hours to demonstrate it fully. As a matter of fact no member of the house has a doubt that the charge is true. There is a persistent effort to "pooh-pooh" the matter and make it appear that it is simply a question of personal virtue on the part of a member, but this is idle. The charge is one of corruption against a member in his official capacity. The fact alleged is infinitely worse than if a bribe of money had been demanded for a clerical appointment.

THE PORTLAND BRIDGE BILL.

Among the arrivals from Portland to-night were Hon. H. W. Corbett and Messrs. C. H. Prescott, T. A. Davis, John McCraken, John C. Lewis, F. K. Arnold, C. A. Dolph, M. Koshland, E. D. McKee, J. Loewenberg, George Woodward, Wm. Wadhams, O. H. Meussdorffer and Ellis G. Hughes, to urge the passage of the Portland bridge bill. P. P. Shelby, general freight agent of the Union Pacific, came to express the interest of his line, and R. Koehler to demand equal privileges for the O. & C. Mr. Hume came to protest against a narrow draw, and river pilots Hoyt, Strang and Betts to give expert testimony. All appeared before a joint meeting of the senate and the commerce committee of the house to-night and a general conference followed. Mr. Corbett, Mr. Prescott, Mr. McCraken, Mr. McKee, and others spoke, urging a favorable report on the bill, giving arguments already familiar. Mr. Koehler argued for the privileges for his road. Mr. Hume protested against a draw of 150 feet. Capt. Hoyt said that the location of the bridge was at a point where the current was swift in the season of winter floods and that the draw ought to be made wide as possible. Capt. Betts said that it would be difficult and often impossible to take a big ship through a draw only 150 feet wide. Capt. Strang said that the draw should be at least 200 feet wide. Mr. Prescott said that the bridge engineer supposed to be the best in the United States had advised his company not to attempt to operate a bridge with more than a 150-foot draw. The opinion of this engineer, based upon a wide experience, was that a draw of 125 feet at Portland was ample.

During the session the following amendments to the bridge bill, as originally introduced, were adopted: Requiring that the work be begun within six months, and completed in two years, that a commission of two engineers be appointed, one by the Portland and the other by the East Portland council, to decide as to the width of the draw, with a provision that in any event it should not be less than 150 feet in the clear. The Miller amendment, introduced last week, making the use of the bridge common to all roads wishing to enter Portland, at rates to be fixed by a commission composed of the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, with the right of appeal to the legislature, was adopted.

The bill will be reported back to the senate to-morrow or next day.

EX-SECRETARY EARHART EXONERATED.

The proposition made in the house yesterday to investigate the conduct of Secretary Earhart in paying large sums of money to Capt. John Mullan under authority of senate joint resolution No. 2 of the late special session, was made without knowledge. The secretary of state without the signature either of the president of the senate or of the speaker of the house, as the rule requires, yet inasmuch as the journals of the session showed that it did pass both houses, it was deemed proper to publish it in the appendix to the laws. The resolution not being properly authenticated its authority was denied by the secretary of state, who refused to audit the accounts of Capt. Mullan, and they remain in the office of the secretary of state unpaid for want of authority. No sums of money have been paid to Capt. Mullan by the state treasurer or warrants drawn in his favor for any amount whatever by the secretary of state under or by the authority of senate joint resolution No. 2.

REAPPORTIONMENT.

A caucus of democrats was held to-night to consider the question of reapportionment, and after talking the matter over, a committee of six—Wager, Siglin and Weatherford, from senate, and Mitchell, Daly and Taylor, from the house, was appointed to draft a bill, and to report to a future caucus.

It is said by democrats that the democrats will stand solid against the republican bill and for their own. It looks as if there would be no reapportionment. A republican caucus has been called for to-morrow night to consider this question.

SUPREME JUDGES' SALARIES.

Several days ago Mr. Harrington, chairman of the house committee on judiciary, to which the judges' salary bill was referred, wrote to all the lawyers who were members of the constitutional convention and who are still living in the state asking their opinion as to the constitutionality of the bill. Answers from all excepting Judge P. P. Prim have been received.

Judge Deady says: "I have no doubt of the power of the legislature to increase the salaries of judges of the supreme court, and, if you will allow me to say so, of their duty to increase them."

Judge Williams says: "The legislative assembly possesses all power of legislation, not prohibited by, or in conflict with the constitution of the state, or the constitution, laws or treaties of the United States, and it is very clear that the right of the legislature to increase the salaries of the supreme judges is not prohibited in the state constitution or elsewhere unless that prohibition can be raised by implication."

Ex-Gov. Chadwick says: "It was my understanding that the prevailing opinion of that convention was that the legislature would have power to increase the salaries of the judges. From the action of the convention I was of that opinion myself."

Ex-Senator Kelly thinks: "That the constitutional convention did not intend to restrict legislative action in regard to increasing the salaries of the judges."

Judge R. D. Shattuck says: "It is not illogical to hold that since the power to legislate on this subject is not taken away by express terms it remains, and the provision that the judges shall receive an annual salary of $2000 is designed, and, in fact, operates only to fix a minimum of their compensation."

The above are extracted from letters now in the possession of Mr. Harrington.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The several constitutional amendments awaiting action will be submitted to the house to-morrow. They are three in number. The first prohibits the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors in the state; the second changes the date of the state election from June to November, and the third gives the legislature power to regulate the salaries of state officers.

GRANT'S PASS INCORPORATION.

The contest over the bill to incorporate the city of Grant's Pass is an active one. Senator Miller says that it is a fight between the citizens of the town and the non-resident property-holders. He says that the bill was drawn up according to the wishes of a mass meeting of citizens and that it is supported by all the citizens of the place. It provides that it shall be ratified by a popular vote before it becomes a law. A. H.

THE EAST SIDE.

The work that is being done in the public schools of East Portland is of the most substantial character. Routine instruction and cramming are not among the methods employed in the development of the mind powers. A good deal of attention has been given to reading, upon the theory that a pupil who is a good reader is a good student. Prof. Wetzel says this is invariably the case. At the Central school this week the professor has been reviewing the reading classes. In Miss Gray's room are about fifty pupils, ranging from nine to thirteen. The reading in this room yesterday was exceptionally fine. There was none of the old sing-song, but each word was uttered with distinct articulation. Bright and interesting reading matter, that appeals to the understanding of the young mind, has been introduced, in connection with the regular text book. This novel method engages the attention. There is no monotony about these little books. They are full of life and vivacity, and the expense incurred in buying them is insignificant. All are eager to get them and then read them with an absorbing interest. Words are defined and practical thought brought out, so that the mind gathers information in addition to the reading exercises. In the exercises in numbers it was wonderful how quickly the pupils at the blackboard would add up a column of figures. The same attention to details, patience and conscientious work are displayed in all the grades, and only this instance is given as illustrative of the systematic methods employed. Every means is adopted to lead the mind of the pupil to develop independent thinking, and all machine work is discouraged.

Prof. Wetzell stated that this district is in need of another school building. The next term all the grades will be full and overcrowded. Something should be done to secure more room. The room on J street is unfit for school purposes. A good deal might be said concerning the East Portland schools, but must be deferred at this time.

POSTAL NOTES.

Mrs. Cougill informs the east side reporter that she has received instructions with regard to postal notes, which materially changes their character. The notes have heretofore, when issued, been made payable at a certain postal order office. Now they are made payable at any money order office. For instance, if any one wishes to send a postal note to Salem it is not now required, under the new instructions, to designate Salem, but such postal note is payable at any money order office.

INCREASED MAIL SERVICE.

On and after the 1st day of February mail service between East Portland and the Sandy will be increased from a tri-weekly to a daily mail. This increase will be a great advantage to people at Mount Tabor and vicinity, who have been receiving their mail three times a week will have their mail every day after the 1st of February. There is a large settlement at Mount Tabor who will greatly rejoice over this increase in the mail service.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.

A. Brandt, superintendent of the car shops, this morning, while crossing on the ferry at the depot, was taken quite sick. At first a feeling of numbness and lack of sensation came over him; then followed vomiting and pain in the region of the breast. A physician was at once summoned, who administered such remedies as were deemed necessary. Last evening the attending physician reported Mr. Brandt in an improved condition. The case had indications of paralysis.

REPAIRS.

Street Commissioner Bartel has been engaged all day repairing the wash-out at the east end of the long bridge on I street. He states that the damage was more serious than was at first supposed. It was very difficult to secure foundation for the bents, or supports, that had been washed out, the water having thoroughly saturated the ground. The damage to O street has been made good, and now the commissioner will look after Fourth and Fifth streets.

ALMOST COMPLETED.

The Sixteenth street bridge is completed with the exception of a portion of the planking. Mr. Hogue, who has been furnishing the lumber, has had so many orders to fill of late that he has been unable to supply the lumber required. The citizens expect to be able to turn the bridge over to the city by the next council meeting. They certainly deserve credit for making this improvement at their own expense.

BOUND OVER.

The editor of the Indicator, W. W. McGuire, returned from Sprague, W. T., yesterday. He has been at Sprague for the purpose of bringing action against John W. Kelly for defamation of character. The result was that Kelly was bound over in the sum of $750 to await the action of the grand jury. The case will probably come up at the May term of court. Kelly is well known in East Portland as the editor of the Democratic Era when that paper was published by Rayely. He attempted to revive that paper in this city four or five years ago, which attempt was a failure.

THOMAS-BURNETT.

Monday evening Mr. B. W. Thomas was married to Miss Frank D. Burnett, daughter of our fellow-townsman, Mr. H. Burnett. The wedding was a private one, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. D. T. Richards, D. D. The newly wedded couple took the train for Yaquina bay, where they will remain a short time. After returning they will take their departure for Omaha. The bride's health has been poor for some time, and it is to be hoped that traveling and the incident change of climate will enable her to regain her health. Both are well known in the city, where they have many friends who entertain high hopes for their happiness.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

FAMOUS BICYCLIST HERE.—Thomas Stevens, the famous bicyclist, arrived here last night by the steamer Oregon. Mr. Stevens left San Francisco in April, 1884, crossed this continent on his wheel, thence to Europe and across the Eastern hemisphere. He returned to San Francisco on the 8th of this month, having traveled in the meantime 13,000 miles in the "saddle." The story of his journey, which he contributed to the columns of Outing, is very charming and has been read by thousands. Some time ago THE OREGONIAN published an account of the attack on Mr Stevens in China by a rabble, who stoned him, under the belief that he was an evil spirit, a sort of a devil, as it were. A heavy helmet, bought in India, which the bicyclist wore, protected his head from the shower of missiles until his speed on the wheel carried him out of danger. Mr. Stevens has preserved the helmet as the most valued souvenir of the journey. Upon his arrival at San Francisco, two weeks ago, he was made an honorary member of all the bicycle clubs in the golden city and Oakland. He was treated with marked attention by the wheelmen of the bay and when he sailed for Portland last Sunday, 100 members of various clubs bade him good-bye at the wharf, and as the steamer pulled out they sang "The Soldier's Farewell." The bicycle club of this city sent a committee to Mr. Stevens to arrange for a reception here, but he was obliged to decline, as he leaves this afternoon over the Northern Pacific for Minneapolis to fulfill an engagement there. So the best they can do is to show him the town to-day.

SWINDLER TO BE TRIED.—Yesterday morning in department No 2 of the state circuit court the indictment charging one H Prindle with larceny by bailee was dismissed, and he was arraigned on four indictments for embezzlement. Some time last summer while Geo. La Rocque was in Victoria he gave Prindle a power of attorney to act for him. Prindle sold an interest La Rocque had in a farm for $1900, collected two promissory notes, one for $900 and one for $500, and sold to Emil Weber Geo La Rocque's interest in the La Rocque estate for $800 and appropriated all the above sums of money to his own use. Prindle made a plea yesterday of not having his attorney on hand, saying at the same time that Col Edgerton of San Francisco would defend him. The judge, however, remembering that he made the same plea last September, and that as his counsel had not arrived yet, gave him until Saturday to find his lawyer, and in case he failed the judge would appoint one for him. Prindle is a swindler from "away back." He is a man of excellent business ability, well educated, of good family, and capable of making money fast in an honest way, but in the last fifteen years has been guilty of several large embezzlements.

HOTEL PARTLY DESTROYED BY FIRE.—About 6 o'clock Sunday morning the Astor house at Astoria was partly destroyed by fire. It broke out about 2 A. M from a defective flue and Weston Daggett, a 14 year old son of the proprietor, who was serving as watchman in the absence of the regular man, who was ill, extinguished it as he thought. But some sparks evidently caught in the attic, where flames burst out four hours later. The guests escaped in their night clothes. The fire was confined to the upper floors, but the building was drenched. Wyatt & Thompson owned the building, which was damaged to the extent of $8500. The insurance was $7500 as follows: Connecticut $3000, Fire Insurance association $1000, Oakland Home $1000 and Anglo-Nevada $2500. Mrs Daggett owned the hotel and her loss on furniture is heavy. She had no insurance. Some time ago she suffered a similar loss by the burning of the Weston house.

ENGLISH TRADERS.—The two cargo ships arriving from Liverpool December 30 have landed their cargoes for the most part. The Bessfield is at the Gas dock putting out coal. The fine ship Patterdale is at Mersey dock with a clean hold. She belongs to the Dale line which usually has one or more vessels in this trade. Although reporting a stormy passage she has landed her cargo in perfect condition. Capt. Allison will soon be leaving with a wheat freight. This is the Patterdale's first visit here. She was built in 1871. Ships of the Dale line known here include the Grisedale, which has made several quick trips, Eskdale, Borrowdale and Mitredale. The Eskdale has made two trips in this trade, the Mitredale two, the Grisedale four, the Patterdale and Borrowdale one each. There is now en route from or loading at Liverpool for this port six vessels and from London two. Our direct trade with England grows steadily.

THE WEATHER.—About daylight yesterday the cool weather moderated, the clear sky became cloudy and a south wind sprang up. This state of weather continued until evening, when rain began to fall. At 8 o'clock last night it was raining moderately in the Willamette valley as far south as Eugene and the temperature was cool. "Out south" the weather was cloudy, no rain, warm and wind south. Monday night there was a sudden drop in temperature at the Blue mountains and in the Grand Ronde valley, indicating a freeze-up along the Columbia. The mercury at 8 30 yesterday stood: Kamela, the summit of the Blue mountains, 6, La Grande, 11, Union, 22, Baker City, 16, cloudy, wind southwest. At the same hour the temperature at Bonneville, The Dalles, Umatilla and Walla Walla was about 40. At 5 o'clock last night the weather had moderated and there was some snow in the Blue mountains. The mercury then had risen about 10 degrees.

THREE DIVORCES GRANTED.—Judge Stearns and Clerk Christie were kept busy yesterday with divorce suits. Three cases were finally decided. Mary T Apperson was granted a decree from Jacob R Apperson on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married in Marion county, in November, 1872. Plaintiff was given the custody of the two children, Daisy E and William Ray, aged respectively 12 and 11 years. Mary F Murphy was married to John B. Murphy in Vancouver, in May, 1884. She was yesterday granted an absolute decree of divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The marriage bonds of Jacob Rothkowsky and Rebecca Rothkowsky were severed by a divorce decree, issued on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple were married in New York city, in May, 1864. No children and no alimony.

MUD BATH.—Some of the streets in this city are muddy enough, but there are some in Albina which are worse, at least George Herrall thinks so. He is bondsman for George Langford, who has a large contract for constructing the buildings for the Terminal company over there, and a day or two since Langford drove him over to see the progress the work was making. He found everything satisfactory and, concluding that Langford was bound to make a good thing out of his contract, was coming home in a very happy state of mind when, as they turned a corner, one wheel of the cart went into a hole and Herrall was thrown sprawling into a huge pool of mud, where he floundered around for a while and at last swam ashore. He took his bath good naturedly, but would, in future, prefer to take his mud baths at the hot springs.

STENOGRAPHERS ORGANIZE.—The stenographers of this city last night completed their organization and adopted the constitution and by-laws. The association is to be known as the "Pacific Northwest Stenographers' association," and they invite all stenographers, ladies and gentlemen, residing in Oregon, Washington and Idaho to become members. The objects are to increase the standard of proficiency among the profession. The following officers were elected: President, R W Mitchell; vice-president, W A R deont; secretary and treasurer, J McElhinney; executive committee, W. T Hume, Miss Gertrude Holmes, W. E. Mitchell, J R. Baldwin and Geo. A Brodie. The meeting adjourned, to meet on the evening of February 15.

SOLUTION OFFERED TO A MURDER.—A paper published at Mountain Home, Alturas county, Idaho, has the following: "J. C Wait, who was sent to the Oregon insane asylum from Ketchum about a year ago, was pronounced cured and discharged. It has now dawned upon the people of North Powder, in that state, that Wait was in their city at the time Willis Skiff was supposed to have been murdered, and that nothing has been seen or heard of him since the night the deed was committed. Wait's malady is the direct result of a disease which leaves no room for the belief that he ever can be permanently cured, though he was never considered dangerous.

GOT PAY FOR HIS CROPS.—The suit of N H McKay against N A. Musgrove and W H. Musgrove was tried yesterday before Judge Shattuck and a jury. McKay had leased from the defendants a farm on Sauvie's island, and the lease expired before the crops which McKay had planted, matured, whereupon the defendants refused to allow him to harvest it. He brought suit for the value of the crops and the jury returned a verdict in his favor for $464 55.

MECHANICS' FAIR OFFICERS.—At the directors' meeting of the Portland Mechanics' fair last evening, J. B. Congle was elected president, W. B. Honeyman, vice-president; Gustaf Wilson, secretary, and Geo. E. Withington, treasurer. These officers have served the association well, and their re-election is a deserved compliment. To their efforts and those of associate directors, much of the great success of the fairs in recent years has been due.

WANTS A SECOND DIVORCE.—Yesterday Elizabeth Hellering instituted divorce proceedings in the state circuit court against her husband, Joseph Hellering, on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple were married in this city in 1868, and in April, 1883, Elizabeth secured a decree of divorce, with about $10,000, from Joseph, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. In February of the following year, 1884, the two were again united in marriage, Elizabeth signing away her $10,000 to Joseph. There is one daughter, Lena, about 17 years of age, in whose presence plaintiff alleges that the defendant broke a looking glass over her head a few weeks ago. Plaintiff also deposes that her husband has about $30,000 worth of property, and she wants her share of it.

ELLENSBURG MINES.—Mr O. S. Goodnow, president of the Ellensburg (W T) Mining, Milling and Smelting company, is in the city. He will leave for San Francisco by the next steamer, and thence go to New York and hurry up machinery that has been ordered. It is the intention of the company to erect a 5-stamp mill and smelting works which will have a capacity of eighty tons per day. Construction of the Cascades branch of the Northern Pacific has stimulated wonderfully the development of the mines of the Ellensburg district. Mr Goodnow states that there is now nearly 20,000 tons of ore in sight, some of it averaging $400 to $500 per ton.

ARRESTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER.—On complaint of Mrs Sarah Crozier, Justice Bushwiler yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs James Cornwall, on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs Crozier alleges that Mrs Cornwall by the use of certain drugs procured an abortion in her daughter, Emma Crozier, 16 years of age. The girl is very sick from the effects of this maltreatment. Mrs Cornwall was arrested last evening by Constable Meads, and in default of $1000 bail was committed to the county jail. She has been conducting a sort of a lying in hospital on a small scale at Sixth and Alder.

CLOSING OUT SALE.—Jones Bros, gentlemen's furnishers on First street, between Washington and Stark, make an important announcement this morning, namely, that they are going to close out their stock, and to that end offer every article in the store at first cost. The sale begins this morning. As everyone knows Jones Bros cater only to first class trade, and have as fine goods as are sold in first class stores in Eastern cities. It is seldom that such opportunity comes to those who need gentlemen's furnishing goods, and buyers in this city will likely not be slow to take advantage of it.

IN HONOR OF BURNS.—Over 500 people crowded the Masonic hall last night, the occasion being the fifth annual concert and ball given by the Caledonian club in commemoration of the 128th anniversary of the birth of the poet Burns. It was a most successful affair. The concert programme was excellent and pleasantly prolonged by a great number of encores. At the conclusion of the exercises Chief Dr Hicks requested all to join in the grand song "Auld Lang Syne," which was sung with a will. The hall was then cleared for dancing, which was participated in for several hours.

PECULIAR EMPLOYMENT AGENCY.—L. G. Frege, the employment agency man charged with committing assault and battery upon two girls, who wanted their advance money back, on failure of defendant to procure them work, forfeited $20 bail in the police court yesterday. The firm of which Frege is a member seems to bear a peculiarly vicious character, as complaints have several times been made to THE OREGONIAN before this. Should these complaints continue to come to THE OREGONIAN, a full investigation will be made.

A WINDFALL.—The announcement of Emma Abbott's appearance in this city and the attendant excitement among opera enthusiasts, has caused a revival in the millinery business, which, at this time of the year, as a rule, reposes on its laurels. Meihs & Co. (the Bouquet) report an average sale of ten to twelve opera bonnets since the last few days. It is evidently going to be a full dress affair. Hunt up your swallow-tails, boys.

THE GATLING GUN COMPANY.—A meeting of this company was to have been held this evening, but has been postponed until to-morrow evening at 7 45 o clock, at the armory of the Portland Light Battery, corner Fifth and D streets. It is to be hoped that all who have signified their intention of becoming members will be present at this meeting, when a permanent organization will be effected.

ARTESIAN WELLS.—A. J. Miller and J. H Carpenter, of Wenas valley, Yakima county, W. T, have recently received an outfit with which to sink artesian wells. The drilling apparatus is capable of reaching a depth of 500 feet. They are now drilling wells for domestic purposes with good success, and, later on, they intend to start into the bowels of the earth for a regular artesian flow for irrigating purposes.

JUROR STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.—Mr G. W. Elmer, of No 101 South Fourth street, was stricken with paralysis while serving as a juror in department No 1 of the state circuit court yesterday at 10 o'clock. His son being present, he was at once conveyed to his home, being excused by Judge Shattuck from further service. His condition is regarded as very serious.

ASSIGNMENT.—George W Phelps, proprietor of the Baldwin restaurant, made an assignment yesterday to Frank Sealy. The assets are set down at $2000 and the liabilities at $2051 76. The heaviest creditor is Ira Russ & Co, $1150. O'Shea Bros with $191 41, and Sealy, Mason & Co with $106 95 come next.

Deputy U S Marshal Harbord, of Salem, yesterday brought down one Edward Baker and deposited him in the county jail. The charge against him as given by Charley Frush, is that he potlatched sitcum-chuck sitcum-firewater to a cultus siwash. Baker is probably a cultus Boston man, and the less he has to do with fire-water, and siwashes in the future the better for him.

A NINE-ROUND PRIZE FIGHT.

Two Sailor Men Pummel Each Other at Joe Taylor's Last Night.

Despite a most stringent law to the contrary, a prize fight took place in this city last night within five blocks of the police station. The utmost secrecy was observed, and only those who held tickets were informed of the event and they did not know where it was to take place. By mere accident a rumor of the fight reached THE OREGONIAN about 1 o'clock this morning, and an energetic reporter, by lively skirmishing, secured the following particulars.

The contestants were "Scotty" (surname unknown) and a sailor boarding house runner named McCaffrey. He claims to be the light weight champion of Australia. Scotty has been working at Magoon's stable as a hostler. He is the young fellow who sparred with Butler, the barber, at the Dempsey-Burke exhibition, and a very lively man he is with arms and legs. If any reader has doubts on the subject let him ask Butler. Scotty weighs 140 and McCaffrey 148. Both men were in good condition. The stakes were $100 a side and gate money. Tickets sold for $5 each. About thirty sports witnessed the "performance."

It was intended that the fight should take place in East Portland about 9 o'clock last night, but for some reason no hall or room that was considered safe from police interference could be obtained, so Joe Taylor's dive, corner of Front and Alder streets, was appointed as the place for the battle. Doors were securely locked and bolted, and everything was conducted "according to Hoyle." The fight was to a finish, Marquis of Queensberry rules, with two ounce gloves. It began at 10 o'clock. Tom Shortell was chosen referee. Names of the subordinate officers could not be learned. Both men appeared in perfect condition and bets were about even. In the first four rounds it was a "toss up" as to who would win. McCaffrey was very confident before the fight, walking around with the elevated shoulder, tough mouth-swagger of the prize fighter of the stage, and expressing the opinion that he would do his man up in short order. Scotty was very quiet and did not hazard a statement as to his ability to whip his larger adversary. Scotty was cool and showed a great deal of science. He did all his fighting at short arm, and was evidently bent on closing his antagonist's eyes, for he delivered every blow in the upper part of the face. McCaffrey played for Scotty's ribs, and planted several hard blows very low down, and for the first four rounds they seemed to tell. But he was a trifle too slow, appearing somewhat shoulder bound. In the fifth round Scotty seemed to catch on to a way of parrying McCaffrey's right with his left and landing blows with his right on McCaffrey's eyes. By this time, McCaffrey saw that he was receiving harder punishment than he was giving and after that fought on the defensive. Scotty forced the fighting and never let his man get away from him, keeping up a continuous shower of quick blows at short arm in McCaffrey's face. In the seventh round McCaffrey weakened perceptibly and Scotty followed up his advantage, this time sending longer and stronger blows, one of which closed McCaffrey's left eye and cut open the cheek just below it. In the eighth round Scotty worked on Mc's right eye and on his neck, and made the latter puff out like the mumps. At the opening of the ninth round, Mc made a final rally and aimed a vicious right-hand swinging blow at Scotty's ribs. It fell short and Scotty seeing a good opening, planted a terrific right-hander on McCaffrey's neck, evidently hitting the jugular vein. McCaffrey staggered back, and holding his right arm up, helplessly exclaimed, "My wrist's broke." Shortell, who was umpiring the game, according to Shortell's revised rules, called time, and examined the arm. He decided after a surgical examination that the arm was not broken, and ordered McCaffrey to go ahead. He, however, refused, he claimed that despite the opinion of a medical expert so distinguished as Shortell, the arm was broken. Scotty's blow upon McCaffrey's jugular vein had broken McCaffrey's wrist. Thereupon Shortell decided the battle in favor of Scotty, but decided all bets off.

Scotty is a sailor who came here a few months ago. He did not spar with Butler, but Johns, who seconded him in last night's fight, did. Joe Taylor was stakeholder and timekeeper.

After the fight the men shook hands and drank together. The crowd was very quiet.

Scotty did not have a mark on his face, but there were several contusions on his ribs. McCaffrey's face is in such a condition that he will probably not be able to show himself at Emma Abbott's opening night, and he offers his seats in the front row at a discount.

ADVERTISING WALLA WALLA.

Plan for Bringing the City and the Valley to the Notice of Eastern Capitalists.

Mr C B Livermore, of Walla Walla, whose scheme for advertising and advancing the interests of that city and the great Walla Walla valley have been indorsed by the board of trade there, is in the city with the object of perfecting arrangements for reduced passenger rates for such people as may be induced to visit that section. When Mr Livermore was back East last year he found a great many who were anxious to gain information in regard to the Walla Walla valley.

This beautiful section has been kept in the background by reason of insufficient railroad facilities. This want is to be supplied by the completion in a very short time of railroads connecting Walla Walla with the Baker City branch at Pendleton, and with the Northern Pacific at Colfax. The completion of these roads marks the dawning of a new and more prosperous era for the Walla Walla country. Mr Livermore thinking this a propitious time to make an effort for the advancement of that section laid his plans before the board of trade of Walla Walla which heartily endorsed and adopted them. His scheme embraces the following features: Personal visitation to Eastern towns and cities along the lines of the great railways and branch lines and the presentation through the medium of speeches and private interviews of the facts relative to Walla Walla city and valley, embodying statistics and figures upon the climate, producing capacity of the soil, the different kinds and quantities of grain raised, bushels per acre, methods of farming, fruit industries, rainfall, timber and water power facilities, the opportunities for investment of capital in manufacturing industries, and, in brief, a general resume of the natural resources and productive features of Walla Walla valley.

Mr Livermore will leave for the East about the 1st of February. He will visit the principal cities of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa, and be gone two months. As there is no land in the Walla Walla valley open to pre-emption or homestead entry, his efforts will be made to induce men of capital to visit that section and invest in manufacturing or other enterprises. Mr Livermore is well qualified to accomplish what he starts out to do, and his efforts will doubtless result in great benefit to the region he represents.

We have been favored with an advance sample of the handsome souvenir programme to be given to every participant at the first anniversary ball of the Moss Rose social club next Thursday evening, at Masonic hall. This programme is by far the most elaborate and elegant piece of work of the kind ever in this city, and not only speaks well for the Moss Rose social club but the printers who designed and executed them, Messrs. Knox & Dore, corner Washington and Front streets. Heretofore similar social gatherings were compelled to accept whatever imported stock they could find for their order of dances, but now they can have such work done entirely in Portland. The fortunate possessors will be likely to carefully lay them away as a remembrance.

troduced yesterday regarding the irreducible school fund that there was $12,000 in the escheat fund that could be loaned at interest, should have read $25,000 There is about $150,000 all told of the irreducible school fund in the hands of the state treasurer, which, the bill provides, may be loaned.—Rep]

AFTERNOON SESSION

As a special committee to remove the body of ex Gov Gibbs from England to Oregon President Carson appointed Messrs. Dimick, Hare and Weatherford.

BILLS PASSED

No 17, by Shupe—For a health officer at Coos Bay and one at Gardiner, at an annual salary of $400 each.

No. 37, by Simon—For the official publication of supreme court decisions and for the appointment of an official court reporter, who shall prepare the decisions and have 600 volumes of the decisions published in book form, 300 volumes to be the property of the state and 300 the property of the clerk, who shall be authorized to sell the same. Simon said one of the principal objects of drafting this bill was that Oregon reports shall be published in this state. A resolution to this effect was introduced before but had not always been complied with. The state printer should do this work. Another object was to relieve the clerk of the court from reporter's duty and this was not obligatory on the judges of the supreme court. They could appoint two persons to do the work or not, as they saw fit. If a special reporter was appointed all the compensation he would receive would be from the sale of these 300 copies of the reports at $5 a volume passed, Veatch voting in the negative.

REIMBURSING COUNTIES

No. 10, by Lee—Reimbursing certain counties for delinquent mortgage taxes for the years 1883 and 1884, paid to the state treasurer and not collected The bill was amended to include Yamhill and Multnomah counties

Chandler said it didn't make any difference if it was for mortgage taxes uncollected or what he would vote against the bill. Baker county had frequently asked for relief, and hadn't got it. One case where a county had paid and hadn't collected was as fair as another The bill passed Chandler voting no

BULLS RUNNING AT LARGE.

No 76, by Dawson—To prevent bulls from running at large Siglin asked to have Coos county included in the bill Hare said he objected Veatch of Lane county objected to the bill He said it would put the farmers in that section of the state to a great deal of trouble to keep up their stock as provided by this bill Another thing he didn't think it was worth the paper it was written on It was something like the hog bill passed two years ago. Dawson said if the senator from Lane objected he moved that Lane be stricken out. Watts said he would ask that Yamhill county be stricken out. The passage of the bill would be a curse to his section of the country Williams of Clackamas asked that Clackamas county be stricken out Barin said as the other senator from that county he would object

SUPREME COURT FEES

No 11 by Lee—Reducing the fees of clerk of the supreme court. Lee said this bill reduced the fees 40 to 50 per cent but this would still leave the clerk an ample salary and as large as the supreme court judges, passed.

PEDIGREE OF STOCK

No 20 by Barin—Preventing the giving of false pedigrees of animals Barin explained that the object of the bill was to provide that when a man for the purpose of improving stock or otherwise bought what was said to be a certain breed of stock he should get what he paid for and that it should be unlawful to give a certificate that an animal was a certain breed when such was not the case. Many states had such a law but we were without one and needed it.

Weatherford said he thought the penalty which provided that for violation of the law a man could be sent to the penitentiary was too severe and cited the instance of a horse trade

Barin said the bill left it to the discretion of the court whether the penalty should be imprisonment in the county jail or a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment in the penitentiary A man who would sell another a horse, say for $1000, said to be of a certain breed, and which was not worth over $100, was as guilty as if he stole that much money from a person. It was equally larceny

Hare said he thought it just such a bill as should pass. It protected persons who desired pure stock, and was in the interest of the stock growers of the state.

Weatherford said he had no desire to antagonize the bill, and thought he should vote for it but he thought the penitentiary clause a little too strong Horse trades as everybody knew, were made on very loose grounds.

Barin said there was a difference between the hearsay history of an animal and a written one A pedigree was always supposed to be written. Verbal statements about animals were taken for what they were worth passed.

FAILED TO PASS

Irvine's bill fixing the rate of interest at 6 per cent, but on contracts at 10 per cent. Wager said the original bill provided for but 8 per cent when contracted for and it was amended to read to 10 per cent., which was virtually no change at all. He would vote against it.

Lee said it made the legal interest 6 per cent which would reduce the interest on county and state warrants and would be quite a relief. There was a division in the committee who had the bill under consideration He would vote for the measure Hare and Weatherford agreed with Lee that it would reduce the interest on county warrants, etc.

Chandler said he would oppose the bill for the same reason the senator from Washington favored it. It would depreciate the value of county securities.

Shupe said he would oppose the bill for the same reason. If he worked for Douglas or any other county he could not see if they owed him money why he shouldn't receive the same interest as he would from any one else He would have to pay it if he borrowed the money

Miller said that he confessed that on the face of the bill it appeared to him that it looked like it was working injustice on some It provided that 6 per cent. could only be collected where a man had to wait for his money when it was overdue Where money was kept over a reasonable time without a man's consent and where no contract had been made, and where a man had to sue for his money and recover judgment where no rate was specified 6 per cent. was all he could collect. He thought it an injustice and would vote against it.

Weatherford claimed the bill would affect principally the brokers who shaved county warrants and not the bone and sinew of the counties who paid the taxes. He admitted that they might have to sell county warrants for a little less but it wouldn't affect them very much. On the whole it was just.

Wager said the market value of money controlled it and he was opposed to the bill on general principles. The usury law was a dead letter Where a man couldn't loan money and obey the law he would loan it and violate it It necessitated middle men, agents and brokers who charged 2 and 3 per cent. and the borrower really instead of paying 10 per cent. paid 12 and 13 It was useless legislation and kept foreign capital out of the market. Money should always bring what it was worth.

Hare said the corporations were controlling the circulating medium and without some usury law to restrain them, he did not know what they would do. So long as money was such a despot we required a stringent usury law Mr Hare made quite a speech and finished by saying that he hoped to see the time there would be no usury law nor any such thing as interest.

Weatherford said the earning power of money should not be greater than that of any other business which a man could engage in No class of business could pay more than 10 per cent interest and live and no state could pay it and not go bankrupt. The most thriving were those which had interest down to 4 and 5 per cent. Men would not build factories or engage in other business when they could loan money for 10 per cent The bill failed to pass Carson Barin Cartwright Chandler Cauthorn Emmett Gray Miller Rine Shupe Simon Stanley Williams and Wager voting in the negative Absent—Steel Looney and Hamilton

KILLING OF STOCK BY RAILROADS

Senator Lee was called to the chair

No 35 by Wager—For the payment by railroad companies for live stock killed on unfenced railroads no fence to be considered a lawful fence unless owned and built by the company and whenever any stock is killed by the railroad company the fact is to be advertised in a newspaper Wager explained that he introduced the bill on account of a general complaint of persons, particularly those living at a distance from the railroads.

Simon said it was already the law and the universal practice of the railroad companies to pay for stock killed. This part of the bill he didn't object to, but he did to that part of the bill requiring the publication in a newspaper of stock killed The owners were generally swift enough to find it out and make their demands.

Wager alleged that scores of cattle had been killed where the owners never received a cent, nor never heard of the killing He knew this to be a fact and for this reason he desired a publication of the fact

Simon said he objected to this bill because it required a useless publication of a notice at the expense of the owner of the stock In most cases the owners were known and publication was not desired If it would cost but a half a dollar or a dollar he wouldn't object but he had experience with newspapers, and knew most of these notices would cost $6 to $8 or nearly the value of the animal. It would be time enough to publish a notice within a certain length of time after the killing if the owner didn't turn up Strike out the section and he was willing to vote for the bill Wager said they were opposed to the very thing he wanted in Stock was killed where the railroad employes knew very well whose brand it was and the owner who lived but a few miles off wouldn't hear of it in six months They buried it and said nothing about it.

After a little more debate Wager agreed that the bill be recommitted and reported on at any time Adjourned at 4 P M

I have been using BRANDRETH'S PILLS for the last thirteen years and though I have had nine children I have never had a doctor in the house, except three times when we had an epidemic of scarlet fever which we soon banished by a vigorous use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS I have used them for myself two or three a night for a month for liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation In diarrhœa, cramps, wind colic indigestion, one or two BRANDRETH'S PILLS fixed the children at once. A box of pills is all the medicine chest we require in the house. TELEGRAPH OPERATOR MURDERED

OGDEN Jan 22.—Homer Stone the telegraph operator at Price station 150 miles from here on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, was shot and instantly killed to-night by a restaurant keeper named Stein, formerly a reporter on the Salt Lake Tribune. It seems that Stone owed Stein $7 which he demanded yesterday When asked for the money Stone replied that he did not have the money Stein walked off saying that he would take it out of Stone's hide Nothing further occurred until to-night. While Stone was on his way home from his office Stein sneaked up behind him and shot him in the back, almost instantly killing him Stein immediately fled but was pursued by officers and a few hours later was overtaken and brought back and is now midnight, safely jailed at Price Stone was a quiet unassuming young man and unmarried Excitement is very strong as it is considered a dastardly, unprovoked murder The telegraphic fraternity at Salt Lake and Ogden upon hearing of the tragedy and flight of the murderer early in the evening immediately made up purses to defray the expense of the pursuit and capture of the murderer but fortunately the step proved needless as he was soon overtaken and jugged

The Helena Independent says the murderer is Orth Stein who some years ago killed a man in Kansas City He is a brilliant but erratic fellow His father was a prominent lawyer in Lafayette Indiana and he was named after his uncle the Hon Godlove S Orth, formerly for years congressman from Indiana and at one time minister to Austria.

THE SPREAD OF CHOLERA

PANAMA Jan 25—Great excitement prevails throughout Chile at the appearance of cholera on its boundaries Strict quarantine was enforced against vessels coming from suspected ports and the passes on the Argentine frontier were closed but the disease it appears has surmounted all barriers and reached the Pacific slope A correspondent in Chile says Time and space would fail were I to attempt to discourse upon the clouds of decrees for the preservation of the public health which have lately been issued from the Argentine Republic The telegraphic news for some days past has been of an exceedingly alarming nature and in Mendoza at the foot of the Cordilleras on the other side and in its neighborhood no fewer than forty deaths are reported in one day They speak of bodies unburied of houses abandoned and children attacked by the disease and left to perish in the roadside by their relations who are fleeing south for safety The Argentine government has all along endeavored to suppress the knowledge of the true state of affairs and official telegrams have differed widely from those sent to the Chilean press and to private individuals The brief and unsatisfactory comments also which appear in the Argentine press bear abundant testimony of official supervision all of which things have a tendency to make us imagine here that matters are worse than they actually are

OLYMPIA W T Jan 25—United States vs Frank Taylor judgment reversed Coe against Territory appeal dismissed

THE CHARGE AGAINST WAGER

It isn't a matter of much importance, yet it may be well enough for the country to see just what Siglin's charge against Wager is. In brief, it declares Wager "guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator or a gentleman," and presents these specifications

First—That between the 10th and 20th day of January, 1887, Senator Wager, while holding the position of state senator of the state of Oregon, did publish in a newspaper, of which he is editor and proprietor, certain false and malicious charges against Senator Chandler, of Baker county, Senator Hamilton, of Grant, Senator Stanley, of Jackson Senator Rinehart, of Union, and Senator Siglin, of Coos and Curry

Second—That in a certain communication written to the East Oregonian and published in said paper, between the dates aforesaid, and while said Wager was a member of the state senate as aforesaid, the said Wager did refer to certain members of the senate as a "ring," intending to be understood, and being understood, that certain corrupt combinations were formed by senators for corrupt purposes

Third—That in the communication last aforesaid he did say that his position in the senate prevented him from saying much more "That he knew some things and believed others," intending to be understood that there were corrupt combinations among members of the senate, and that senators named in said communication were in said "ring," or corrupt combination That such facts were within his knowledge, all of which was false, malicious and libelous.

Fourth—That in a certain communication to the said newspaper the said senator did write the following (That his reference to the "democratic contingent," was intended to refer to the five democratic senators aforesaid) "One thing is sure Pennoyer is no sycophant, no hypocrite, no tool and of his uncompromising honesty, inflexibility of purpose there is no doubt. With all these qualities, however, he can really accomplish very little. The legislature with its republican majority and democratic contingent to take the place of republicans who are willing to break over party lines to serve the people, is against him, and will be against him in every effort for the better things, and such laws as they pass, and not others, can be executed" That all of that part referring to the position of said democratic senators toward Gov. Pennoyer is willfully, maliciously and libelously false, written without evidence of the facts, and for the purpose of injuring the said senators. That the said Senator Wager had no knowledge of any facts sustaining said libel, no knowledge or evidence of any kind that any or all of said senators were not in harmony with the democratic state administration, nor how they or either of them would vote on any proposition new pending or to be brought before this session of the senate

Fifth—That Senator Wager suffered, caused and instigated to be published in his said paper, between the dates aforesaid, the following false and malicious matter, to-wit "Hamilton, Chandler and Rinehart (democratic senators from Grant, Baker and Union counties, respectively), deserve credit for their untiring zeal in the interests of the corrupt republican ring"

Sixth—That the said Senator Wager caused and instigated to be published in his said paper and under his name as editor, the following "From all accounts from Salem the united efforts of Union county's senator don't amount to much Both Senator Rinehart, of Union county, and Senator Chandler, of Baker county, have a love for Siglin, Simon and the rest of the republican gang, including free rides on railroads People of Union and Baker, wake up and get after your representatives with sharp sticks" That all of the matters and insinuations contained in said article were false and libelous

Seventh—That between the dates aforesaid there was published and circulated, without expostulation from the said Senator Wager, another slanderous article in his said paper, and under his name as editor, a grossly slanderous article, designating Senator Hamilton as a gambler, and applying vile epithets to other members of this senate. That said article was written either by Senator Wager or at his instigation by one there and still in his employ

Eighth—That all and each of the articles referred to in the specifications aforesaid were either written by Senator Wager or inspired by him by what he did write in letters and communications to his said paper or to his employes, and were written by an employe then and now in his service in said newspaper office, and that such as he did not write were in line and in harmony with such as he did write.

THE WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO Jan 25—If California was in the wheat market to-day as buyer it was so overwhelmed by the tremendous rush of sellers that it was completely buried out of sight. There was no war news and the quotations that came in the morning showed that the foreign stock markets were not only higher but were altogether free from nervousness on the score of war Holders were wilder to sell than they were to buy yesterday, and May wheat sold at the very opening to-day at 84⅛c against 85⅞c last night New York led in the selling and English houses joined

BREAKFAST.

By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame. —Civil Service Gazette.

Our facilities for COLLECTIONS are excellent and we re-discount for Banks when balances warrant it.

Boston is a Reserve City, and balances with us from Banks (not located in other Reserve Cities) count as reserve

We draw our own Exchange on London and the Continent, and make Cable transfers and place money by telegraph throughout the United States and Canada.

Government Bonds bought and sold, and Exchanges in Washington made for Banks without extra charge.

We have a market for prime first-class Investment Securities and invite proposals from States, Counties and Cities when issuing bonds.

We do a general banking business, and invite correspondents.
